SENIOR RESOURCE DIRECTORY

Contra Costa County Area Agency on Aging

Current as of December 2025

7th Edition

About this Guide. . .

The Senior Resource Directory was produced by Contra Costa County's Information and Assistance (I&A) program to help older adults, adults with disabilities, and caregivers find resources. The services listed are provided by non-profit or public agencies. Please note that I&A does not guarantee the information or services provided by these agencies; inclusion in the guide does not constitute an endorsement. Some information might not be current after the publication; please report any discrepancies to I&A.

I&A is a program of Contra Costa County Area Agency on Aging, under the auspices of the Employment & Human Services Department. If you have a problem or concern, please contact I&A to speak with an I&A Social Worker. They are knowledgeable and provide information, referrals to resources, and support in problem solving. Our goal is to help older adults and adults with disabilities live in their home with dignity, for as long as safely manageable, and to enjoy the best quality of life possible.

Contra Costa County Area Agency on Aging's (AAA) mission is to provide leadership in addressing issues that relate to older Californians, to develop community based systems of care that provide services which support independence within California's interdependent society, and which protect the quality of life of older adults and persons with functional impairments, and to promote citizen involvement in the planning and delivery of service.

The AAA develops, through its Area Plan, a coordinated system of community based social services and works to coordinate existing programs and develop new services by partnering with community organizations and pursuing funding resources.

Prescription Medications

When it comes to prescription medications, it pays to be a smart shopper. Choosing generic over brand-name medications can save you money—as much as 50 percent or more in some cases. If your doctor prescribes you a brand-name medication, consider asking for the generic if one is available.

Many chain and big-box stores offer hundreds of common generic medications at prices as low as $4 for a 30-day supply and $10 for a 90-day supply for people who pay out of pocket. It pays to shop around. Medications could cost as much as 10 times more at one retailer compared to others.

Ask, "is this your lowest price?" Sometimes the price you pay out of pocket might be less than your co-pay —a fact pharmacist may neglect to mention. Asking for a discount can prompt the pharmacy to dig for available discount programs, cards, and coupons.

Help to Remain Independent

Home Health Care and In-Home Assistance

Home care services are non-medical and assist clients with Activities of Daily Living (ADLs) such as bathing, dressing, toileting, and meals. You can hire home care aides through licensed Home Care Organizations (HCO). If you hire from an HCO, they will pay employment taxes and have insurance coverage to protect you in case of worker injury or damage to your property. (Ask for proof of insurance.) Domestic Referral Agencies (DRA) maintain lists of independent domestic workers to refer to consumers. If you use a DRA or decide to hire an individual on your own, you may be the employer and have tax reporting responsibilities.

Home health care are medical services such as wound care, injections, physical therapy, and monitoring serious illnesses and unstable health conditions. Doctor's orders needed to start care.

For list of Home Care and Home Health Care Agencies, call Contra Costa County Information & Assistance at (800) 510-2020 or (925) 229-8434.

Top 10 Tips for Identity Theft Protection

An identity thief takes your personal information and uses it without your knowledge. The thief may run up debts or even commit crimes in your name. The following tips can help you lower your risk of becoming a victim.

1. Protect your Social Security number.

Don't carry your Social Security card in your wallet. If your health plan (other than Medicare) or another card uses your Social Security number, ask the company for a different number.

2. Fight "phishing" - don't take the bait.

Scam artists "phish" for victims by pretending to be banks, stores or government agencies. They do this over the phone, in e-mails and in the regular mail. Do not respond to any request to verify your account number or password. Legitimate companies do not request this kind of information in this way.

Bottom line: Never give out your personal information – unless you made the contact.

3. Polish your password practices.

Identity thieves love passwords because they open doors to our personal information. Get tough and organized now. Use different passwords for all your accounts. Make those passwords strong with at least eight characters, including a mix of letters, numbers, and symbols ($+r0^gh@h@). Hide them safely, and keep them handy. Good password practices are work, but fixing an identity theft problem is hard labor!

4. Be mysterious on social networks.

What you share on social networks (your home or email address; children's names; birth date and so on) is what tech-savvy thieves use for scams, phishing, and account theft. Don't over share.

5. Shield your computer and smartphone.

Protect your personal information on your computers and smartphones. Use strong passwords. Use firewall, virus and spyware protection software that you update regularly.

Steer clear of spyware. Download free software only from sites you know and trust. Don't install software without knowing what it is. Set Internet Explorer browser security to at least "medium." Don't click on links in pop-up windows or in spam e-mail.

6. Click with caution.

When shopping online, check out a Web site before entering your credit card number or other personal information. Read the privacy policy and look for opportunities to opt out of information sharing. (If there is no privacy policy posted, beware! Shop elsewhere.) Only enter personal information on secure Web pages with "https" in the address bar and a padlock symbol at the bottom of the browser window. These are signs that your information will be encrypted or scrambled, protecting it from hackers.

7. Check your statements.

Open your credit card bills and bank statements right away. Check carefully for any unauthorized charges or withdrawals and report them immediately. Call if bills don't arrive on time. It may mean that someone has changed contact information to hide fraudulent charges.

8. Stop pre-approved credit offers.

Stop most pre-approved credit card offers. They make a tempting target for identity thieves who steal your mail. Have your name removed from credit bureau marketing lists. Call toll-free 1-888-5OPTOUT (888-567-8688). Or opt out online at www.optoutprescreen.com.

9. Check your credit reports – for free.

One of the best ways to protect against identity theft is to monitor your credit history. You can get one free credit report every year from each of the three national credit bureaus: Equifax, Experian and TransUnion. Request all three reports at once, or be your own no-cost credit-monitoring service. Just spread out your requests, ordering from a different bureau every four months. (More comprehensive monitoring services from the credit bureaus cost from $44 to over $100 per year.) Order your free annual credit reports by phone, toll-free, at 1-877-322-8228, or online at www.annualcreditreport.com. Or you can mail in an order form.

10. Ask questions.

Don't be afraid to ask questions when a business or agency asks for your personal information. Ask how it will be used. Ask how it will be shared, and how it will be protected. Explain that you're concerned about identity theft. If you're not satisfied with the answers, consider taking your business somewhere else.

Diet and Exercise: Choices Today for a Healthier Tomorrow

Eating a healthy diet and exercising often can help control or delay health issues associated with aging, like high blood pressure and diabetes. Set short-term goals to achieve and maintain a healthy diet and exercise routine.

Make these five tips a priority every day:

- Try to be physically active for at least 30 minutes on most or all days of the week.
- Eat plenty of fruits and vegetables.
- Choose foods that are low in added sugars, saturated fats, and sodium.
- Pick whole grains and lean sources of protein and dairy products.
- Practice all four types of exercise—endurance, strength, balance, and flexibility.
